

this district being 1·62 inches. Orissa has received an average fall of 1·43 inches. South-West Bengal reports a fall of 0·72 inch, South Behar a fall of 0·70 inch, and North Behar a fall of 0·55 inch. The falls in East and North Bengal have been considerably smaller, and while East Bengal reports an average fall of 0·24 inch, North Bengal has only received a fall of 0·17 inch. As the normal fall over the province at this period is not more than one or two hundredths of an inch, it will be seen that the actual fall in all instances is many times larger than the normal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 25th of December 1885:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph. The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE table appended to this memorandum presents the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 12th December 1885. The figures in it indicate—

1. That the birth-rate in these Municipalities amounted to 25·6 per 1,000 of population against very nearly the same ratio, viz 25·4 per 1,000 during the preceding week ending 5th December, and the death-rate to 39·4 against 42·8 per 1,000, showing a large decrease in the registration of deaths.

2. That the undermentioned Municipalities furnished the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

3. That while no death was recorded under the head of small-pox in any Municipality, the mortality from cholera and injury amounted on the whole to 4·9 and ·3 per 1,000 of population, respectively, against the same proportions in the preceding week; from fever 17·6 against 19·1 per 1,000; from bowel-complaints 6·9 against 6·1 per 1,000; and from all "other causes" 9·7 against 12·1 per 1,000.

4. That excluding small-pox, from which, as before stated, no death was reported, and the mortality from violence which was nowhere noticeably high, the rest of the diseases above specified caused the greatest loss of life in the following Municipalities :—

A special census of the Province of Bengal was taken in 1901.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

Feb., 20th	24	12mo ... 1st ...		2,000	ditto ...	0 1 6	Rājkrishna Rāya, Calcutta.	A pet child suddenly conceives a whim at dead of night to see a monkey. But there is no monkey in the house to show to him. So the child's	3941 father, an utterly uxorious man, has to dress himself up and dance like a monkey at the command of the child's mother. It is the author's object to ridicule uxorious men.
Jan., 21st	24	24mo ... 1st ...		1,000	ditto ...	0 1 0	Baradā Kānta Sen, 18, Ratan Mistri's Lane, Calcutta.	A small poem, half political, half sentimental. The moon marries the morning star because it is of all stars the most womanly in loveliness and bashfulness	3942 of disposition. Before the marriage the morning star is asked to tell the moon when the moon becomes its husband to remind the people of India of their present degraded and enslaved condition, and to advise them to elevate themselves by loving each other and thereby making union feasible among them. The meaning of the poem seems to be that the regeneration of the people of this country should be the work of Hindu women who are the most womanly of their sex.
